Resist Evil People

Evil doesn't always announce itself loudly. It often hides behind kindness, charm, and manipulation. When you are in the presence of someone whose intentions are destructive — and whose influence you should treat with caution — it is best to observe what you are dealing with and act accordingly.

See past the mask. Discern with wisdom. Act with dignity.

6 SIGNS YOU ARE IN THE COMPANY OF EVIL

They delight in others' pain.

From smirking when someone stumbles to relishing a colleague's failure, they show subtle or bold pleasure when others fail or suffer. Pay attention when someone gleefully gossips about the hardships of others or actively sabotages their efforts.

They lack empathy.

When someone is struggling, they remain indifferent. They cannot feel or understand the emotions of others. If you express vulnerability, they may mock you, dismiss your feelings, or use your pain as leverage.

They are masterful liars.

They manipulate facts, fabricate stories, and twist situations to benefit themselves. You might catch them lying about trivial things, only to realize later these lies are part of a larger plan to control or manipulate you.

They study and exploit your weaknesses.

Like predators, they carefully observe everything you do to identify your insecurities, fears, or struggles. They may pretend to be supportive at first, only to later use what you've shared against you.

They always play the victim.

No matter the damage they cause, they twist the narrative to make themselves look innocent. They deflect blame, deny wrongdoing, and make you feel like you're the one at fault.

Their charm is calculated and manipulative.

They may seem captivating, witty, and engaging – but this charm is a mask designed to lower your defenses. Watch for inconsistencies between their words and actions. They may try to make you feel special or valued only to weaponize that trust later.

6 REASONS WHY PEOPLE ARE EVIL

They desire control.

People with evil tendencies have an insatiable need to dominate the people and situations around them. Control is not just about decision-making; it's about shaping others' realities, choices, and even self-perception to reinforce their own power.

They believe they are entitled.

Evil people see themselves as superior and deserving of special treatment. Rules that apply to others do not apply to them. When they are denied something, they respond with outrage, manipulation, or retaliation, seeing it as an attack on their rightful status.

They carry deep resentment.

They hold onto real or imagined slights, nursing old wounds long after others would have moved on. This simmering bitterness drives them to seek revenge, not for justice, but to satisfy a personal hunger for retribution.

They fear exposure.

They are terrified of being seen for who they truly are. They cover their tracks with lies, shift blame, and create false narratives to protect their image. This fear makes them even more manipulative, as they will go to great lengths to avoid accountability.

They are addicted to dominance.

They crave the feeling of superiority that comes from outsmarting, overpowering, or humiliating others. Winning is not just a goal — it is a source of personal satisfaction and proof of their worth.

They lack a moral compass.

They do not operate from shared principles of right and wrong. Instead, their choices are guided solely by self-interest, convenience, or gain. What matters is what benefits them, not what is fair, kind, or just.

6 PROTECTIVE ACTIONS AGAINST EVIL PEOPLE

Trust your gut.

Your instincts often sense danger before your mind fully processes it. When you feel uneasy or suspicious, take it seriously rather than brushing it aside or making excuses.

Document interactions.

Keep a private record of key conversations, promises, or concerning behaviors. This can help you stay grounded in reality when they try to distort the truth or gaslight you into questioning what actually happened.

Stay emotionally neutral.

Resist the urge to defend, explain, or show vulnerability. They are skilled at using emotional reactions against you. Remaining calm and detached helps protect you from further manipulation.

Set firm boundaries.

Clearly define what you will and will not tolerate. Reduce what you share with them, limit their access to your personal life, and stand by the lines you draw, even when they test or challenge them.

Seek outside perspective.

Talk to trusted friends, mentors, or professionals who can offer clarity and validation. External input can help you see patterns you may miss on your own and remind you that you are not imagining the harm.

Plan your distance.

Think carefully about how you will reduce or end contact. Prepare yourself emotionally and logically, recognizing that disengaging from them is not weakness — it is self-preservation and strength.

"Never wrestle with pigs. You both get dirty and the pig likes it."

— George Bernard Shaw

ghting evil people on their terms only serves their purposes. They thrive on drama, especially when seasoned with anger and emotional reactions from others.

When you argue with a manipulative person, they will twist your words and make you look unstable to observers. When you respond angrily to a workplace bully, they will use your reaction as proof that you're the problem. Whn you show that a frenemy has hurt your feelings, she will say that you shouldn't be so sensitive.

The following activities will show you how to act strategically against evil people without feeding their need for drama and chaos.

6 ACTIVITIES TO HELP RESIST EVIL PEOPLE

1. Observational Response Log

Purpose: Recognize when someone takes pleasure in others' misfortune

Instructions: For at least one week, observe how a suspected evil person in your life responds to good and bad news. Track their reactions.

Person Being Observed: _____

Event	What Happened	Their Reaction	Red Flags?
Someone's Success		<input type="checkbox"/> Genuine happiness <input type="checkbox"/> Forced smile <input type="checkbox"/> Changed subject <input type="checkbox"/> Minimized it <input type="checkbox"/> Spoke negatively
Someone's Failure		<input type="checkbox"/> Showed concern <input type="checkbox"/> Offered help <input type="checkbox"/> Seemed pleased <input type="checkbox"/> Gossiped about it <input type="checkbox"/> Used it against them
Your Good News		<input type="checkbox"/> Celebrated with you <input type="checkbox"/> Asked questions <input type="checkbox"/> Seemed annoyed <input type="checkbox"/> One-upped you <input type="checkbox"/> Dismissed it
Your Good News		<input type="checkbox"/> Showed empathy <input type="checkbox"/> Offered support <input type="checkbox"/> Seemed energized <input type="checkbox"/> Probed for details <input type="checkbox"/> Later used information

Are there any patterns? Does this person express pleasure in someone else pain and discomfort in others' joy? If so, avoid sharing personal details with this person.

2. Lie Detection Tracker

Purpose: Track lies and patterns of deception

Instructions: For at least one week, observe when a suspected evil person in your life tells lies. If a pattern develops, set boundaries that protect your well-being.

Person Being Observed: _____

Small/ Unnecessary lies

They said:

But the truth is:

Why lie about this?

Lies to Avoid Responsibility

Situation:

Their version:

Contradicting evidence?

Lies About Others

3. The Charm Analysis Matrix

Purpose: Distinguish genuine kindness and good character from manipulative charm.

Instructions: Observe how a person treats you for a month. Note any Charming Behaviors with tally marks, what they wanted in exchange, and how much time passed between their charming behavior and the ask.

Person Being Observed: _____

Charming Behavior	The Ask (Hidden Agenda Revealed!)	Time (between Charm & Ask) days/hours
Excessive compliments	What they wanted:
Special attention	What they wanted:
Gifts/favors	What they wanted:
Inside jokes/secrets	What they wanted:

Consistency Check:

How do they treat people with less power?

How do they act when no one important is watching?

How do they speak about others when they are not around?

How do they react when they don't get their way?

Warning Signs:

- Charm turns on/off like switch
- Different personality for different audiences
- Excessive flattery followed by requests
- Makes you feel "special" to isolate you

4. Empathy Response Evaluator

Purpose: Identify lack of genuine empathy.

Instructions: Note how the person responds in each of these situations.

Person Being Observed: _____

Scenario 1:

You share a personal struggle or vulnerability.

Their Response:

- Asked how you're feeling
- Offered practical help
- Shared similar experience to relate
- Changed subject quickly
- Minimized your feelings
- Used information against you later
- Seemed uncomfortable/ annoyed

Scenario 1:

Someone experiences a loss or setback.

Their Response:

- Expressed genuine concern
- Offered support
- Checked in later
- Made it about themselves
- Showed impatience
- Gossiped about it
- Seemed energized by the drama

Empathy Deficit Warning Signs:

- Views emotions as weakness
- Mocks others' feelings
- Uses vulnerabilities as weapons
- Cannot celebrate others' joy
- Lacks appropriate emotional responses

6 PROTECTIVE ACTIONS AGAINST NARCISSISM

5. Listening to the Heart

Purpose: Learn to discern true character through Jesus's method of looking at the heart

Instructions: Read the observations below. Listen carefully to speech patterns. Check all that apply.

Person Being Observed: _____

Concerning Speech Patterns

- Consistently talks about what others owe them
- Frequently mentions their own sacrifices/good deeds
- Often speaks critically about people not present
- Uses guilt and manipulation in conversations
- Claims victimhood while showing no empathy for others
- Speaks differently to people based on their social status
- Uses religious language to shame or control
- Rarely asks genuine questions about others
- Speaks negatively about other ethnic groups, social classes, or genders

Healthy Speech Patterns

- Asks thoughtful questions about others
- Admits mistakes and weaknesses
- Speaks encouragingly about people
- Shows genuine concern for others' well-being
- Uses humor without cruelty
- Speaks consistently regardless of audience
- Takes responsibility for their impact on others
- Expresses gratitude regularly
- Does not speak poorly about other ethnic groups, social classes, or genders or expresses ways to connect

How Do You Feel During and After Speaking With This Person:

Maintain a heart of compassion and empathy, but do not agree or show approval when people share toxic, harmful thoughts.

6. Stealing, Cheating, Defrauding

Purpose: Learn to identify patterns of theft, cheating, and defrauding.

Instructions: Read the observations below. Listen carefully to speech patterns. Check all that apply.

Person Being Observed: _____

How do they handle other people's money and belongings?

Red Flags:

- Regularly "forgets" wallet when going out
- Borrows and doesn't return items/money
- Takes without asking (food, supplies, etc.)
- Lies about financial situations
- Inflates expenses or work hours
- Commits insurance fraud
- Lies on taxes or commits tax evasion
- Only nice to people when they need something (free housing, etc.)
- Takes pay for work they don't actually do
- Uses neighbors Wi-Fi without permission

Red Flag Phrases:

- "What they don't know won't hurt them"
- "Everyone cheats a little"
- "They can afford it"
- "I deserve this"
- "It's not really stealing if..."
- "They owe me anyway"
- "I was planning to return it"
- "It's not my fault"

If you checked more than three boxes, you probably shouldn't trust this person with your money. If you lend them money, be sure to get repayment agreements in writing, or simply consider it a gift.

Based on your assessment, create boundaries.

Decide what YOU will and won't do:

- Never lend money: Yes / No
- Avoid loaning valuable personal property: Yes / No
- Keep financial information private: Yes / No
- Avoid business partnerships: Yes / No
- Limit access to your home/belongings: Yes / No
- Set clear expectations when lending anything: Yes / No
- Get agreements in writing: Yes / No
- Follow up promptly on borrowed items: Yes / No
